

Let the people talk

You might fear all the clouds are coming down hit the land in the aftermath of the sun Even though you are feeling like it's over, you are laughing, you are crying, you are fine

Let the people talk

Why don't you, let the people talk?

Just let the people talk

Don't let it affect you at all

If you're feeling blue, blue, blue, blue you, you, you You'll get through and some day you pursue your dreams
you, you, you, you, you, you, you You'll get through
and some day you pursue your dreams

You're diving on your surface, the way you are feels like you ain't worth it, it leaves a scar Trying to chase your individuality but that's a dream for no one to ever reach

Let the people talk

Why don't you, let the people talk?

you, you, you You'll get through
and some day you pursue your dreams
you, you, you, you, you, you, you You'll get through
and some day you pursue your dreams

Some streams might pull you down the water's deep and you might drown You need to find out how to swim because without it, you can't win

So let the people talk

don't let it affect you at all

you, you, you You'll get through
and someday you pursue your dreams
you, you, you, you, you, you, you You'll get through

You'll get through now

and someday you pursue your dreams
If you're feeling, If you're feeling blue You'll get through
